

FOREIGN SHIPS WILL ESCAPE DAUGHERTY'S DRY RULING

Officials Admit Alien Craft Will Not Be Stopped From Bringing In Liquors Under Seal and Serving Crews—Harding Would Ask Congress for Amendment.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., Nov. 4. Treasury regulations to sustain the Volstead act and the Daugherty opinion holding that foreign ships cannot bring liquor within the three mile limit are to be held up indefinitely.

Officials admit that the regulations never will be issued and no effort is to be made to stop foreign passenger ships from bringing in bar liquors under seal. Foreign freight and passenger ships will not be molested by customs or prohibition enforcement officers for having liquors in their ship stores or for serving it to their crews.

At the Treasury Department it is said the regulations are in preparation but that they will not be issued until the Supreme Court has acted on the question. The petition for review will come up in the Supreme Court November 12. Franklin B. Lord of counsel for the Cunard and Anchor lines says a request will be made for a hearing November 20.

Counsel for the Government will join in asking an early hearing.

Should the Supreme Court uphold the Volstead act, as did Judge Hand in New York, and decide for the Government and against the foreign ship companies, the regulations will be held up until Congress has had an opportunity to amend the Volstead act.

After a Supreme Court decision favorable to the Government the Treasury would be in precisely the same position as it is to-day. The law would forbid the bringing in of liquors but the power of enforcement could not be exercised without serious international complications, which the Administration is determined to avoid.

Administration officials do not believe Congress intended to bring about any such situation. If no other escape is found from the embarrassment President Harding in his formal message to Congress probably will recommend an amendment to the Volstead act specifically exempting foreign ships.

GIRL IN CASSESE CASE OUT AGAIN AND IN AGAIN

Bonding Company Gives Her Up After Brief Liberty.

Mrs. Edith Stevens, the girl held in $2,500 bail by the Government as a material witness in the case against her friend, Anthony Casse, charged with being a bootlegger, returned to the Raymond street jail yesterday after one brief hour of liberty.

Last Thursday, when the trial of the tobacco merchant was scheduled to go on, Mrs. Stevens appeared unexpectedly at the Federal Building, explaining that she wished merely to be a spectator. Assistant Federal Attorney Blue learned of her presence and quickly served her with a subpoena as a material witness. He had been looking all over New York for her. She was held in $2,500 bail and in default of it has been in the civil part of the jail ever since.

Yesterday morning, Mrs. Rose Casse, sister of the man with whom Mrs. Stevens admitted she traveled to the Bahama Islands, offered to supply bail, giving property in Queens as security. The Government thereupon took advantage of a law which allows a forty-eight hour postponement pending a determination of the sufficiency of the bond offered.

Shortly after, representatives of the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland at 120 Broadway appeared at the Federal Building and made the bond required. That was at noon. Mrs. Stevens was released. One hour later, she was back at the Federal Building, the surety company having surrendered her. No statement was forthcoming to newspapermen as to the company's action. Mrs. Stevens, attractively attired, also refused to discuss the matter. She had a dinner engagement and was particularly incensed that she could not keep it.

70 MILE PARADE OPENS NEW WHITE HORSE PIKE

Concrete Highway Called the World's Best by Experts.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. HAMMONTON, Nov. 4.—The formal opening of White Horse Pike, the concrete highway from the Delaware River to the sea, said by road experts to be the best in the United States, was celebrated to-day with a great motor parade twelve miles long. It traversed a route seventy miles in length and was greeted by thousands of spectators at Camden, Hammonton and the score of suburban places between the two municipalities.

Forty-five pretty girls, representing the municipalities of Camden county, and similar representatives from Hammonton, Atlantic City and Buena Vista township of Atlantic county lined up on the main street here, the cavalcade passing between the ranks. War veterans with Old Glory flying before them added a martial air to the scene.
